The Northern Territory Government has released a comprehensive 5 point plan to tackle anti-social behaviour in Darwin and Palmerston and get people off the street and on a better path.

Easier reporting for residents
An app will be developed to help report anti-social behaviour. Data collected from these reports will help response teams to locate incident hotspots, understand behavioural triggers, and create on-going support.

Visible policing and safer public places
The NT Police are targeting anti-social behaviour and problem drinking through a visible police presence and targeted campaigns in the Darwin CBD and wider community. This will include increased foot patrols, segways, marked vans and dog patrols.

Increased Larrakia Day Patrol
The Larrakia Nation Day Patrol service will be increased to five patrols operating longer hours. Day Patrol services will now operate from 5am to 4pm with the existing Night Patrol service starting from 4pm. Services will extend from Darwin city to include the northern suburbs and Palmerston areas.

24 Hour Sobering Up Shelter
The Sobering Up Shelter will now be open 24 hours providing support, accommodation and client referrals to help people under the influence of alcohol or other drugs.

Programs to get more people back on track
The Territory Government is expanding support to break the cycle of anti-social behaviour and get more people back on track. Extra short-term accommodation and Better Pathway Centres (offering hygiene and laundry facilities, case management and support services including return to country) will be created in Darwin, the Northern suburbs and Palmerston.
